Subj: DESIGNATION OF NAVAL PLACES OF CONFINEMENT

Ref: (a) SECNAVINST 1640.9B
(b) MIL-HDBK 1037/4 Brigs and Detention Facilities (NOTAL)
(c) OPNAVINST 1640.9 (NOTAL)
(d) Marine Corps Order 1630.3C (NOTAL)

Encl: (1) Listing of Naval Places of Confinement

1. Purpose. To designate naval places of confinement.
2. Cancellation. SECNAVINST 1640.11B.
3. Background

a. Naval shore brigs are established at shore commands to support the confinement requirement for that geographical area and are designated per reference (a) by the Secretary of the Navy (SECNAV) as naval places of confinement. Brigs shall conform to reference (a) and subordinate service directives in order to retain designation as naval places of confinement.

b. To promote effective and efficient corrections management the Military Services, under the auspices of Department of Defense consolidation, have classified facilities based on a number of items, including length of sentence. A regional corrections facility (Level I) will normally incarcerate only prisoners who are pretrial or have less than 90 days. A regional corrections facility (Level II) will normally incarcerate and provide correctional treatment for prisoners serving sentences of greater than 90 days. Prisoners with more than 5 years to serve on their adjudged sentences will normally be transferred directly to the United States Disciplinary Barracks, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. The Department of Defense has designated the Army as the executive agent for confinement of long-term prisoners.

4. Designation Criteria

a. The naval shore facilities listed in enclosure (1) are designated as naval places of confinement per reference (a).

5 OCT 1998

- b. Shore commands, where there is a need for pretrial confinement and short-term post trial confinement (normally 30 days or less), may establish pretrial confinement facilities. These shall be designated as naval places of confinement by SECNAV as required by reference (a). Naval places of confinement listed in enclosure (1) and meeting the requirements of pretrial confinement facilities may be redesignated as pretrial confinement facilities by Chief of Naval Personnel (Pers-84) or Commandant of the Marine Corps (POS-40) without further action by SECNAV.
- R)
- c. Pretrial confinement facilities shall conform to the fire, life, safety, security, and berthing requirements of references (a) through (d), as appropriate, and will not normally exceed a rated capacity of 20 detainees/prisoners. Chief of Naval Personnel (Pers-84) or Commandant of the Marine Corps (POS-40) will provide criteria for staffing, correctional programs, and other related functions.
- R)
5. Action. Submit requests for designation as naval places of confinement to SECNAV via Chief of Naval Personnel (Pers-84) or Commandant of the Marine Corps (POS-40).
